Bridging differences of time & culture, the art of George Rouault (1871-1958) & Makoto Fujimura (b.1960) meet at the horizon between representation & abstraction. Rouault depicts a world on the verge of dissolving into pure form. Fujimura builds & stretches his materials & abstract forms until they give birth to images in the viewer's mind. Yet in both artists' work, we see the world enriched by creative imagination rooted in faith.
